While we did not know this beautiful lady, she sounds like a lovely person to have grown up with. But my husband and I are friends to Tyler Martin. We are sad to hear of a death in his family and are aware that he has had several within the recent years. May the New Year bring good luck to the family. We wish all of you all the love and luck in the world, until the day come that we must hand our spirit to our Creator of our understanding.
