“ Sherry was such a bright light in our lives. Since we were very young, she took care of us. She was with us before and after school, driving us to swimming lessons, piano practice, and made us countless servings of hamburger helper. One of Sherry's favorite stories to tell was when she was watching us and she was sick- she was laying on the couch and we asked her if we were "going to have wunch today". My favorite memories include singing along to Elvis songs in her car, and watching "Whose Line Is It Anyway?" tapes at her house. Sherry always treated us and loved us like her own grandchildren. We were very lucky to have her and love her right back.
